

'PLANNING FOR SUSTAINABLE WOODLANDS'
Architecture Week Seminar - 22nd June 2005
2pm - 5pm at the WOODLAND ENTERPRISE CENTRE, FLIMWELL

Speakers:

David Saunders (Woodland Enterprise Centre)
Ben Law (Woodland Manager and house builder)
Steve Johnson (Architecture Ensemble)
Simon Farlie (Chapter 7)
Trevor Cherrett (Commission for Rural Communities)

A rare and exciting opportunity to meet people directly involved with sustainable housing in rural SE England. This seminar will address the question of how to build new houses in the countryside in an environmentally sustainable way, whilst offering affordable homes for those who actually manage these important protected landscapes.

Suitable for woodland owners, people working in woodlands and rural environments seeking affordable sustainable housing, planners, rural development agencies, builders, construction engineers, architects....

Please see the attached flier for more detailed information. Advance booking essential - a limited number of places are available so please book promptly.
